

Welcome!

Are you ready for Halloween? We are and because my son is in love with Halloween and kept asking if we can put up the "Scary stuff" he calls it, my husband put them up.

I have begun to do gift ideas on my Financial Living Youtube channel. It is half term so may wasn't able to film one for this week, so will continue in the following week when my son is at his holiday club. Check out this link here: https://www.youtube.com/@financialliving

If you didn't know I am now doing a radio show on Epsom Hospital radio, which if you are in the UK can listen to,. My show is 4pm to 6pm on Sunday's.

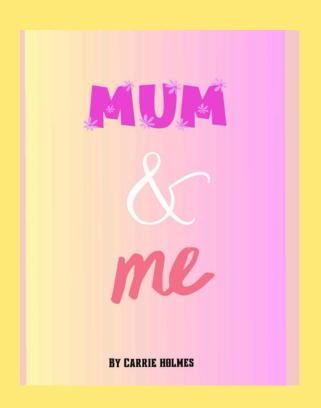

It is now half term and vlogging over the two weeks my son is off and we've been on doing bus rides and trains which my son loves but been tricky because he likes to go up and down hill and get off on the opposite direction, so going to be a blissful two weeks, but now we at home and there are some Halloween events on, like at the London, We went to the London Aquarium, but nothing had been put up, but there are events coming up and so check the Southbank London.

What more is to come?

I have some more newsletters and planning a Winter Programme called Winter Wellness, plans to still be confirmed.

Then it is planning 2025 and should have two books written and published. Please check out most recent book Mum&Me book 1: https://m.media-amazon.com/images/I/51lK525tvel._SL1499_jpg

There will be Christmas Vlogs and won't be doing Vlogmus, but will be sharing and talking about the Southbank, they often have Christmas Market Stalls and Ice Rink and we are planning on going to Guildford and already booked to go to a Pantomime at Wimbledon Theatre. The Comedian Joe Pasquale is in this years.

We got to go to a Panto. It wouldn't be Christmas if we didn't and shopping too.

these newsletters are free to download and print and post them each month. please check out this link:

https://uk.pinterest.com/thetypicalLondongal/everyone-can-build-a-castle/monthly-newsletter/