So I have been looking back on 2026 on my Instagram
https://www.instagram.com/carriechalloner/
Taking my son on his first plane ride to Edinburgh,
The heatwave we had this summer, caused our local park
pond dry up and even though we had a good summer
it did cause a drought and many of the ponds in Epsom had dried up, see picture above.
Along with the foot soldier in Edinburgh and picture of the Isle of Wight taking my son on a Ferry for the first time. A lot of firsts for my son and my goals for 2027 are the same as last year. More of the same.

Christmas is truly on its way and I have five more gifts to buy.
I have started to get Christmas food like Pigs n Blankets in the freezer and it will be another quiet one.

I have been sharing our meals and shopping each week on my Youtube channel: https://www.youtube.com/@Carriechallonerhttps://www.youtube.com/@Carriechalloner and got 100 subscribers now. Very grateful and will be sharing more.

I will be taking a break from my blogs in January and February as I want to focus on my books and Youtube, I am hoping to finish my parenting book by end of the year and have this published and will let you know. I will still post my weekly cheat sheets for Everyone can build a castle along with my newsletters.

So see you in December.
